Dear Dr. Shah:

ABIM recognizes your fellowship training as an important part of lifelong learning and continuous professional development. Based on your program director's approved evaluation of your past fellowship year, you have earned 20 MOC points (10 in medical knowledge and 10 in practice assessment) that will count toward your participation in the ABIM Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program.

In addition, to help alleviate financial concerns you may have as you prepare to become certified in your subspecialty, you also have been awarded a fellowship fee credit of $66.00. Because your MOC program fee is currently paid and up-to-date, you will be able to apply this credit to your participation in the MOC program in the future.

Log in to abim.org to view your MOC activities and see how many points you have earned.
